

The Heavens Declare The Glory Of God

Disclaimer: this is an automatically generated machine transcription - there may be small errors or mistranscriptions. Please refer to the original audio if you are in any doubt.

Date: 21 March 2022

Preacher: Sue Simison

[0 : 00] The 21st of March. The heavens declare the glory of God. Our passage today. Genesis 1, verse 1.

In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth. Christians love to sing praise to God as the creator of the vast and wonderful universe in which we live.

We know God's power keeps it all together every moment. Psalm 19 sings, The heavens declare the glory of God and the sky above proclaims his handiwork.

Right through the Bible, the story is the same. We live in the world God has made in all its vastness and complexity. Sometimes people say that science tells a different story from the Bible.

When it comes to creation. They don't include God in their view of the world. But we believe that God is the God of true science, as well as being the God of his book, the Bible.

[1 : 10] Both science and the Bible tell the same story of creation, but in different ways. If we remember this, then we can have the confidence in our Bible when it speaks about God's acts in creation, as well as in teaching about God's salvation for our lives.

And a prayer. Dear Lord, I worship you as creator and sustainer of the universe. Help me also to worship you as my saviour and the Lord of my life.

Amen. Amen. Thank you.